Editors’ notes:

Many of you already know of the passing of Richard W. Wellman, former editor and a constant contributor to these pages. You will find his obituary in our special edition of the April 2019 Yesteryears, a reprint of the October 2001 Yesteryears that contains a poignant editor’s note from Richard.

Researchers have an excellent choice of primary source material compiled by Richard and his Jefferson County Genealogical Society friends and fellow genealogists. He compiled or helped to compile stacks of Excel spread sheets listing everything from county teachers to marriages and high school graduates. An important Kansas Census year, 1865, lists all residents of Jefferson County. Kansas had become a state after the federal 1860 census (statehood in 1861) and the 1865 tally includes data on soldiers. The data is compiled in a notebook that can be purchased. Another notebook compiled by Richard (from deed books in the Jefferson County Register of Deeds office) lists the original land owners of the Delaware Reserve Lands purchased from the Kansas Pacific/Union Pacific Railroad. And, thanks to Richard, we also have the original Jefferson County land owners of the Delaware Trust Land, with their historic sales at Fort Leavenworth in 1856 and at Ozawkie in July 1857. All compiled by name, the quarter, section, township range for location, the number of acres purchased, date purchased and how much it cost. A legacy.

“Lazy Clubs” Around the World

Oskaloosa, Jefferson Co., Kansas – During the dull times, in the early history of Oskaloosa (pre-1861 statehood) several of the most prominent men organized themselves into a “Lazy Club.” Among them were G.B. Carson, Thomas H. Noble, Abram Sinnard and W. Trapp. Carson was president for a long time. The club had rigid rules, and if any member was seen to have any implement of labor, his case was promptly investigated, and if he was proven guilty of having performed any work, he was expelled. The badge of distinction was a Barlow knife, which was awarded to the champion lazy man.

At one time Tom Noble and Abe Sinnard were contestants. They were lying under the large oak tree, by the roadside, north of town, when the stage drove toward the spot where they were. Thinking it about to run over him, Noble rolled just out of the path, but Sinnard simply asked the driver to drive around. He got the knife.

Trapp afterward carried it for a long time, but finally had to give it up to a man living below town, who was too lazy to carry it himself, but had his little boy tie a string to it and drag it after him. He kept it until the club disbanded. -- William G. Cutler's History of the State of Kansas, Jefferson County, Part 11.

Columbus, Cherokee Co., Kansas – The “Lazy Man’s Club” meets in the shade on the east side of the Court House every afternoon for the dispatch of business and to discuss politics, eat melons &c. Stringent by-laws and rules have been adopted. No man can be admitted who is not naturally and constitutionally “tired,” and any member found guilty of doing any manual labor or exercise is immediately expelled. Motions are made and put in sections. It takes two men to second a motion, (it being considered too much exertion for one). Ministers are ex-officio honorary members. No member is excused for being absent at a meeting unless he states upon his honor that he was too lazy to attend. The membership of the order is constantly increasing and promises to be larger than that of any other organization. – The Border Star (newspaper), Aug. 1, 1879.

Boston, Massachusetts – [The Boston Advertiser syndicated a lengthy article about Edward Kent, a two-time governor of Maine, a former member of the legislature, mayor of Bangor, Maine, consul to Rio Janeiro, a judge, and more, and an 1821 Harvard graduate.]

The alumni of Harvard college, who have of late years missed the familiar face of Edward Kent, will be glad to hear that the first volume of the Maine Historical society’s collections contains a memoir of this distinguished lawyer, judge and civilian – a man who was always universally popular, and yet was most decided in his opinions and had the courage of his convictions under all circumstances...

... He had no rank in college, and, in truth, was president of the "Lazy club," having been obliged to explain on one occasion for being seen to run in the college yard. His excuse was that some one pushed him, and he was too lazy to stop." From the El Dorado Republican, El Dorado, Kansas.

Columbus, Cherokee Co., Kansas – The lazy man's club seeks the shady side of the court house of afternoons just as natural as a duck takes to water. Jim Wilson has resigned the presidency and Van Bennett has been elected in his place. The reason Van was elected was, that last year he was appointed to draft a constitution and by-laws of the club. He was too lazy to write them, and of course came in for first place this year. A committee has been appointed to hire someone to draft the laws of the club. – Columbus Courier, July 15, 1880.

Buffalo, New York – Lazy Club. They have a "Lazy Club" in Buffalo. A member was expelled the other day for running down a hill; and another for talking with a person in the street without leaning against a post. – The Sunbury Gazette, Sunbury, Pennsylvania, Aug. 24, 1839.

Lawrence, Douglas Co., Kansas – Lawrence has a "Lazy" Club and one of the rules of the association is that no member shall be allowed to hold stock in the concern after he accepts a position with any employer. – Lawrence Daily Gazette, Jan. 30, 1894.

Columbus, Cherokee Co., Kansas – A member of the "Lazy Man's Club at Columbus has been expelled because he assisted his wife in stretching the clothes line. – The Junction City Weekly Union, Aug. 16, 1879.

Brooklyn, New York – A member of the "Brooklyn Lazy Club" has just been expelled for going at a faster gait than a walk. The recusant offered in mitigation of sentence the fact that the Sheriff was after him, but the society was inexorable. – Newport Daily News, Rhode Island, July 17, 1851.

Annapolis, Maryland – They have a lazy club at Annapolis, Md., every member of which is compelled to take a snooze daily under the trees in front of the State House. In case any member who lies down in the shade rolls over when the sun comes round, he is instantly expelled. – The Times Picayune, New Orleans, Louisiana, Aug. 17, 1839.

London, England – The Lazy Club. A club with this name existed not many years ago in London. The members of the fraternity generally met attired in their nightgowns, with their stockings about their heels, and frequently with only a single stocking on. Their salutation on entering, was a yawn and a stretch, and then without further ceremony, each took his place at the lolling table. – New England Farmer, Boston, Massachusetts, Jan. 3, 1844.

“Green Book” for Oskaloosa and Perry

The next few pages contain images of a Kansas “colored directory,” a green book that in 1928 included information for Oskaloosa and Perry. The item is from the Kansas State Historical Society’s Kansas Memory website and may be viewed here:

<https://www.kansasmemory.org/item/211117>

This is the Kansas Memory introduction to the book:

“Colored directory: information, history, facts, also buyer’s guide of the best business places appreciating your patronage

This directory primarily deals with African Americans living in Topeka, Kansas, but it also contains listing for Alma, Burlingame, Council Grove, Dunlap, Eskridge, Osage City, Oskaloosa, Paxico, Perry and rural Shawnee County. Listings of the residents of the smaller communities include name and occupation. The address is included only if it is rural with the RFD numbers. The listings for Topeka include name, occupation or place of employment, and home address. The Topeka portion includes a listing of churches with some sketches, colored schools, lodges, biographical sketches of some community members, article about the police and fire departments, the Kansas Vocational School in Topeka, and "Some Topeka Institutions" (African American organizations and businesses). The publication includes a listing of call letters for radio stations, driving distances in Kansas, and railroad rates from Topeka to various locations for the railroad lines through Topeka.

The directory also includes a number of advertisements. Date: April 1928”

Josiah B. McAfee, the Slavery-Fighting Preacher from Grasshopper Falls

By Wendi Bevitt, owner of Buried Past Consulting LLC

Josiah B. McAfee, born in 1830 in Juniata County, Pennsylvania, came to Kansas Territory in 1855. He and his pregnant wife, Anna, and their toddler, Celeste, traveled by railroad and steamer, finding immediate and constant conflict in the pro-slavery dominated town of Leavenworth. This did not keep the fiery young pastor from speaking against slavery when provoked, and he often faced threats on his life.

Within a month of his arrival, Josiah McAfee opened a small subscription school called Leavenworth Collegiate Institute. His own schooling included Pennsylvania College at Gettysburg, followed by Lutheran seminary in Maryland. McAfee's Leavenworth school was the first school in Kansas Territory aside from the mission or military schools.

Josiah engaged himself with ensuring Kansas be entered into the Union as a free state and in 1856 along with other free-state men traveled east to Ohio to visit with governor Salmon P. Chase and on to Washington D. C. There, they met President Pierce and Speaker of the House Nathaniel Banks. Rev. McAfee made 27 speeches encouraging the election of Fremont and Dayton in the fall of 1856<sup>1</sup>. When McAfee returned to Kansas, he found that his home had been taken over, the school closed, his church used as a store, his fellow preachers chased out of Leavenworth by the local proslavery forces who also gave him notice to leave.

His family found refuge nearby in Jefferson County at the free-state community of Grasshopper Falls. There he was welcomed by Lorenzo Northrup, who gave him land and invited him to start a school and to preach. He built the first Lutheran church west of the Missouri, primarily by himself, and started classes immediately, lodging the teacher in his house. He preached every other week at Grasshopper Falls and at three other area churches on the off Sunday. He refused payment for his ministry, which placed him in financial straits because of earlier losses caused by the border ruffians.

In the Civil War, McAfee served in and recruited for the 11th Regiment of the Kansas Volunteer Cavalry, Company I, which included soldiers from Burlingame and Grasshopper Falls. Like many from Co. I, he transferred out of that company to serve in a U.S. Colored troops regiment. As chaplain of 2nd Kansas Colored (which eventually became the 83rd US Colored Troops), when his unit was stationed at Fort Smith, Arkansas he was given the assignment of care for the more than 4,000 refugees in the area. He personally accompanied some of the 2,600 refugees to Kansas<sup>2</sup>.

Prior to the end of the war, he followed his former commander and soon to be Kansas governor, Samuel J. Crawford, to Topeka to serve as Crawford's personal secretary. Still retaining some ties to Grasshopper Falls, he for a time owned a newspaper named The Jeffersonian along with George T. Isbell from 1865-66<sup>3</sup>, which served as a voice for Gov. Crawford's politics. Josiah then put down firmer roots in Topeka by establishing a Lutheran church there and became adjutant general for the state of Kansas.

His Topeka home consisted of a sizable stock farm north of present day Gage Park. On his farm he employed former U.S. Colored Troops soldiers.

From 1870-1871 Josiah served as mayor of Topeka. He would give half of his salary to the police force, encouraging them to enforce the laws, and the other half to the temperance cause and charity. During McAfee's tenure as mayor no liquor licenses were issued and gambling paraphernalia was publicly burned. His actions resulted in his being "unmercifully reversed" in the next election.

He was a three-time member of the Kansas House of Representatives starting in 1883. He maintained a staunch opposition to liquor and promoted fierce prohibition laws, conceding to less stringent ones only to allow for their passage. His leadership within the prohibition movement prompted him to be among the individuals to post bail for Carrie Nation when she was arrested for smashing a liquor establishment with some of her followers<sup>4</sup>.

Josiah died in Topeka in 1908 at the age of 77.

JEFFERSON CO., KANSAS CONNECTION TO BOONE FAMILY

compiled by Richard Wellman from Wood Genealogy & Boone website information, 2004.

QUESTION—What is the relationship of Nancy (Boone) Smith, buried at Smith cemetery, N. of Valley Falls, KS. with the famous Daniel Boone of Kentucky. I have left out all information on other branches to follow only the relationships of the Boone family to Jefferson Co. connections. e

1st Generation

Squire Boone, Sr., b. 25 Nov. 1695 in England, married 23 Sep. 1720 Co. PA. to Sarah Morgan. They had 11 children, including 6th child, Daniel Boone and 10th child, Squire Boone, Jr.

2nd Generation

Daniel Boone, (the famous Kentuckian) b. 22 Oct. 1734, married Rebecca Bryan had 10 children, including 7th child, Daniel Morgan Boone. Only 7 children lived to adulthood.

Squire Boone, Jr., b. 5 Oct. 1744, married Jane VanCleave & had 5 children, including 2nd child, Moses Boone.

3rd Generation

Daniel Morgan Boone, m. Sarah G. Lewis and had 12 children. He died 13 July 1839 and is buried in Jackson Co. MO. He was appointed "Farmer for Kansas 'Kaw' Indians" in 1827 and lived near Williamstown, Jefferson Co., KS. Their son Napoleon Boone, was the first white child born in Jefferson Co.

Moses Boone, b. 23 Feb. 1769, married on 20 Dec. 1786 to Hannah Boone. They had 11 children, including 3rd child, Squire Boone.

4th Generation

Squire Boone, b. 7 June 1794, married on 15 May 1817 to Nancy Cotter and had 2 children, including 2nd child, Nancy C. Boone. He married 2nd on 1 Aug. 1821 to Phoebe Rissler and had 10 more children.

5th Generation

Nancy C. Boone, b. 1819 married in 1835 in Putnam Co. Ind. to Simpson Smith and had 5 children. She died 1905 at Valley Falls, KS. buried at Smith cemetery. Her grandfather Squire Boone, Jr. was the brother of Daniel Boone. So Daniel would have been her great-great-uncle.
